Karnov Group launches new financial integration to digital advisory solution

Karnov Group, a leading provider of mission critical legal information solutions in Denmark and Sweden, has launched a new integration to the digital advisory tool Karnov Business Optimiser, developed with the objective to support auditors in accessing advanced financial analyses efficiently.

The digital advisory solution Karnov Business Optimiser, which has been developed in close collaboration with the Danish auditing and accounting industry, is now even deeper linked with the work flow of its users. The solution was developed to reflect the complex reality that auditors are facing today, with increased regulatory complexity, fewer routine tasks and a greater emphasis on strategic advisory. Therefore, Karnov Business Optimiser provides quick access to advanced analyses, budget simulations and valuations.

Karnov Business Optimiser can now be integrated with the accounting system of the international software platform CaseWare, a system that is used by members of FSR – Danish Auditors, as well as by auditors and accountants worldwide. With this integration, auditors can pull customer data into the analysis engine of Karnov, preparing them for an even more valuable dialogue with their customers. The integration is dual, meaning that the analyses done can be transferred back into CaseWare for future reference and progress reporting.

Flemming Breinholt, President and CEO, Karnov Group said: “We are happy to have partnered with FSR – Danish Auditors in this integration. We know that advisory has become an ever-important focus area to auditors, yet we have seen that there has been a lack of efficient tools to support their work. We sought to create a mission-critical solution that would support auditors across the Nordic region in extracting financial data and advanced analyses and use it in their daily dialogue with customers”.
