Norstedts Juridik launches JUNO, a new digital information solution

Norstedts Juridik, Sweden's leading supplier of legal solutions, is launching a new legal information solution; JUNO. The solution combines the content from Karnov Groups legal information database Karnov Juridik and the current legal information service from Norstedts Juridik; Zeteo. JUNO has been developed in order to provide professionals working with the law fast and efficient access to legal information – media independently. JUNO will be launched during the summer of 2019.

“With JUNO, we will provide our customers with the most comprehensive legal information solution in the Swedish market. Under the same roof, we have gathered content from both Karnov Juridik and Zeteo. More than 1.000 experts are represented in the solution, and their knowledge and insights make it possible for our 35.000 users to make better decisions, faster” says Olov Sundström, CEO of Norstedts Juridik AB

The development of JUNO has been ongoing for about a year, and the launch is the result of a collaboration between people and departments from both Karnov Group and Norstedts Juridik. To ensure the quality and usability of the new solution, the development has been done in close collaboration with current customers. JUNO will be launched during the summer of 2019.

“I see the launch of JUNO as our first great combined delivery, and I am very proud of what we have achieved. JUNO is a clear proof of what the new Norstedts Juridik can bring to the market. With our long history in legal information publication and Karnov Group as our new owners, we are now setting the direction for the legal industry in Sweden” says Olov Sundström
